New Contract For Steel Union Slated for OK

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel industry negotiators return from Washington today, a new contract ready for ratification and the threat of an industry shutdown apparently ended.

President Johnson announced their agreement at the White House Friday night, saying: "The settlement is a fair one. It is designed to prevent the inflation which would damage our prosperity."

Officials didn't reveal the terms pending ratification, but sources said the wage-benefit package was between 46 cents and 48 cents an hour over three years, depending on whether union or management figures were used.

The 450,000-member United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, had sought a package it estimated at 48.9 cents. The 10-company management team pegged the package at 55 cents.

Sources said the settlement would increase pensions about $5 a month per year of service, a 50-cent increase over the company's offer of $4.50. Under the old contract, the maximum pension was about $7.60 a month per year of service.

It couldn't be learned how much of increase in hourly wages the Steelworkers would receive. The average wage now is pegged at $4.40 an hour.

Government sources would say only that the agreement is within the White House guidelines of a 3.2 per cent annual increase.

Johnson said the negotiators, in reaching agreement, put the national interest, including the Viet Nam war, above their own interests.

The union's 170-man wage policy committee meets in Pittsburgh at 9 a.m. Sunday to consider the White House spured agreement.

A union source said no difficulty was expected. Ratification by the 10 major steel firms which produce 80 per cent of the nation's steel was expected to be routine.

The President called the steelmen from Pittsburgh to Washington on Monday, talked to them and that evening announced they had extended the shutdown deadline eight days from the original Tuesday midnight deadline.

The the President kept the negotiators isolated in the Executive Office Building next door to the White House, sending them lunch and dinner, and prodding them at strategic moments.

Johnson took a prolonged stroll around the White House Friday, lingering for about half an hour where the negotiators could see him from their negotiating rooms and remember that he was championing the bit to go to his Texas ranch as soon as they reached agreement.

He made it clear he wouldn't leave without it.

LBJ's Persuasive Powers Produce Two Victories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armed with statistics, sandwiches, a telephone and an array of lobbying allies, President Johnson has triumphed in both ends of a double power play.

Johnson won his twin victories Friday, on Capitol Hill and in a guarded conference room near the White House where negotiators reached what he termed "essential agreement" on terms of a new steel contract.

For both battles, the President summoned the persuasive powers of his personality and his office.

Before nightfall he faced television cameras and radio microphones to declare in triumph that the grim threat of a steel walkout "has been met head-on and has been overcome."

Johnson already had proclaimed that with action in the House forcing a late September vote on home rule for Washington "we near victory in the final battle of the American Revolution."

His two battles won, Johnson was home in Texas today for a Labor Day weekend on the LBJ Ranch. He headed south about an hour after he announced the steelmen had come to terms.

In his drive for a steel settlement, Johnson used statistics to put before negotiators his first concrete settlement recommendations. He did not say if they became part of the agreement.

He sent the sandwiches — and some fish soup — to keep the dozen negotiators at their bargaining table without a break for meals.

While the President climaxed his steel settlement bid, congressmen marveled — or muttered — about the high-powered lobbying drive Johnson turned out to win majority backing for a petition that will force a House vote Sept. 27 on self-government in the District of Columbia. The capital now is governed by Congress and presidential appointees.

The petition went over the majority mark, and guaranteed Sept. 27 House action, when Rep. George E. Shipley, D-Ill., signed his name Friday.

Shipley, after a day of telephone calls at his Olney, Ill., home, flew to Washington and signed up moments after the House went into session.

Shipley said he got a call from

Police Seek More Facts In Cleveland Boy's Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police are trying to determine when and where a Shaker Heights housewife bought an old .32-caliber revolver with which an 8-year-old neighbor boy was killed last month.

Mrs. Mariann K. Colby, 40, is in the Cuyahoga County jail awaiting a preliminary hearing Tuesday on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of Cremer Young Jr., who lived two doors away from the Colby home.

The boy's body was found Aug. 24 in a wooded area in Gates Mills, about 10 miles from the Colby home. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said the boy had been shot in the back of the head at close range about three hours before the body was found.

Mrs. Colby was charged with murder late Thursday after she signed a statement admitting that she shot the boy accidentally, police said. She pleaded innocent and is held without bond.

Shaker Heights police have refused to say why they charged Mrs. Colby with first degree murder instead of filing a lesser charge against her.

Police have established that Mrs. Colby bought the ammunition which killed the boy some time after last Jan. 1, Chief Carl Longstreet said, but have been unable to determine when the gun was purchased.

Police said Mrs. Colby told them Wednesday that her 9-year-old son, Dane, shot Cremer accidentally while the children were playing in the Colby home and that she took the boy's body to the wooded area in her station wagon. She told police where to find the gun—wrapped in a package of ground meat in her refrigerator.

Police quoted her as saying Thursday that she accidentally shot Cremer when a pile of clothes she was carrying fell to the floor. Police said she told them she was carrying the gun and it went off accidentally.

Gerald S. Gold, Mrs. Colby's attorney, said police must show at the preliminary hearing "probable cause" to believe the slaying was first-degree murder.

"The court can reduce the charge all the way down to a misdemeanor," he said. "The state will have to produce some evidence to support the charge."

Schweitzer Is Reported To Be Dying

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer lapsed into a coma at his jungle hospital today and his daughter said there was no hope of saving him.

"There is no more hope of human effort that can save him," said his daughter, Mrs. Rhena Schweitzer Eckert.

A telegram sent by the hospital to members of the family and close friends of the 90-year-old jungle physician said tersely:

"He is dying stop inevitably and soon stop everything that can be done has been done stop he goes quietly and in peace and dignity."

Mrs. Eckert, her face showing signs of fatigue and sleepless nights, said, "another man would have given up long ago. But my father was stronger than most men."

Dr. Walter Muns, medical director of the hospital, said Schweitzer was "resting peacefully. He is not suffering."

Dr. Richard Friedmann, a long-time associate of Schweitzer, said the old doctor's kidney action had stopped functioning.

Schweitzer rallied briefly Friday afternoon, then lapsed into a coma.

"Late Friday night we knew that all was lost," said Friedmann.

Losses Are Heavy In Ground Fights

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Another flight of B52 Strategic Air Command bombers pounded a suspected Viet Cong stronghold in South Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The raid by the Guam-based eight-engine jets — the 18th reported in the Vietnamese war — was made in Quang Tin Province 320 miles northeast of the capital.

In the ground war, a government force was reported to have killed 53 Viet Cong in a bloody battle in the swampy Mekong River delta but Vietnamese troops took heavy losses in a Communist attack against an outpost.

Twenty-four Communist guerrillas were reported captured Friday in the Mekong battle 75 miles southwest of Saigon in Vinh Binh Province. Vietnamese and American casualties were termed light.

Government troops made contact with the Viet Cong five times Friday, the spokesman said. In the heaviest clash, the Communists reportedly suffered 22 casualties.

In the other action, a Viet Cong force estimated at three companies attacked a government outpost early today 135 miles south of the capital. The attack was beaten off by regional forces, but the defenders suffered heavy losses, authorities said.

Two Viet Cong were killed and left behind in the assault in Bac Lieu Province 25 miles west of Vinh Loi. A company of troops defended the outpost.

U.S. warplanes continued raids in the north with bombing assaults on warehouse areas, bridges and trucks.

A multibattalion operation in Long An Province just south of Saigon resulted in light casualties to government troops, the spokesman said. In a second operation in Long An Province government troops destroyed boats and huts and seized rice, communication wire and medical supplies apparently left by the Viet Cong.

An official Pakistani spokesman in Rawalpindi, the Pakistani capital, said 40 Indian air force jet fighters were engaged in a dogfight by Pakistani jets which scrambled to meet them after the Indians invaded Pakistani air space.

The Pakistani spokesman said the Indian Gnat and Hunter jets broke off the fight "after a short, sharp engagement." He reported all Pakistani aircraft returned safely and no known losses inflicted on the Indian planes.

Indian spokesmen said they had no details of the air attack on the Pakistani tanks or how the battle was going.

It appeared from the battle report that neither side was paying any attention to a cease-fire appeal by U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

The aerial encounter came amid reports India would reject the appeal.

She Pays His Fine, Then He Kills Her

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — A rubber worker who spent Thursday night in jail because he quarreled with his wife and threatened to kill her, did kill her Friday afternoon — a few hours after she paid his fine to get him out of jail, Portage County sheriff's deputies said.

Carl Lee Bolyard, 34, killed himself after he had slain his wife, Donna Jean, 30, and wounded her son, Ronald, 11, Coroner Robert A. Sybert said, ruling murder and suicide.

Deputies said they arrested Bolyard on charges of disturbing the peace because of the quarreling and threats to his wife's life. He was fined $15 and costs in Ravenna Municipal Court Friday morning.

Weekend Is Finale Of Summer Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans were expected to jam the state's recreational areas—and highways— this Labor Day weekend, the last long holiday period of the summer season.

Highway safety officials somberly predicted 28 deaths on Ohio's roads this weekend. A total of 22 persons were killed during the Labor Day holiday last year.

The Highway Patrol ordered its men out in force in an effort to reduce the accident toll.

Col. Anson B. Cook, patrol superintendent, said motorists who violate the rules of the road can expect citations. "Whether Ohio suffers the predicted casualties depends upon the individual motorist," Cook declared.

Police officials also are on the alert for any rowdiness at recreation spots, particularly at Russell's Point on Indian Lake in Logan County and Geneva-on-the-Lake in Ashtabula County on Lake Erie.

Rioting youths last July 4 caused much damage at the two resort areas and brought out National Guard units. This time, however, police officials say they are prepared to "nip in the bud" any disturbances.

On the national scene, safety experts predicted that between 500 and 600 persons would be killed on the highways this weekend.

The deaths occurred in accidents inevitable in operation of most of the nation's 87 million motor vehicles. The National Safety Council, which made the death toll estimate, said total highway travel mileage probably will total 8.9 billion during the 78 hours between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and midnight Monday.

Last year's Labor Day weekend cost 531 highway deaths. In addition, there were 18 deaths in boating accidents and 59 drownings unrelated to boating — 608 accident deaths peculiar to holiday activity.

LBJ's Persuasive Powers Produce Two Victories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Armed with statistics, sandwiches, a telephone and an array of lobbying allies, President Johnson has triumphed in both ends of a double power play.

Johnson won his twin victories Friday, on Capitol Hill and in a guarded conference room near the White House where negotiators reached what he termed "essential agreement" on terms of a new steel contract.

For both battles, the President summoned the persuasive powers of his personality and his office.

Before nightfall he faced television cameras and radio microphones to declare in triumph that the grim threat of a steel walkout "has been met head-on and has been overcome."

Johnson already had proclaimed that with action in the House forcing a late September vote on home rule for Washington "we near victory in the final battle of the American Revolution."

His two battles won, Johnson was home in Texas today for a Labor Day weekend on the LBJ Ranch. He headed south about an hour after he announced the steelmen had come to terms.

In his drive for a steel settlement, Johnson used statistics to put before negotiators his first concrete settlement recommendations. He did not say if they became part of the agreement.

He sent the sandwiches — and some fish soup — to keep the dozen negotiators at their bargaining table without a break for meals.

While the President climaxed his steel settlement bid, congressmen marveled — or muttered — about the high-powered lobbying drive Johnson turned on to win majority backing for a petition that will force a House vote Sept. 27 on self-government in the District of Columbia. The capital now is governed by Congress and presidential appointees.

The petition went over the majority mark, and guaranteed Sept. 27 House action, when Rep. George E. Shipley, D-Ill., signed his name Friday.

Shipley, after a day of telephone calls at his Olney, Ill., home, flew to Washington and signed up moments after the House went into session.

Shipley said he got a call from the White House, but not from Johnson himself. Some other wavering House members heard from the President directly.

A six-man team from the White House and Democratic headquarters set up shop Thursday in the office of Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., to talk unsigned congressmen into putting their names on the petition.

All week, the White House had said Johnson was making no government proposals for a contract settlement. Johnson sent his first recommendations a few hours before he revealed the settlement. It was based on an analysis of union and management contract offers by his Council of Economic Advisers.

In the Capitol Hill campaign, while his aides did the face-to-face work of the House floor, Johnson telephoned wavering congressmen.

"The President asked me if I would sign it," said Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex. "I did it because the President had a problem. I did it to help him."

Pakistan, Indian Planes Clash in New Attacks

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Pakistani tanks, under a cover of jet planes, attacked in south-west Kashmir today and were hit by Indian planes, the Indian Defense Ministry reported.

An official Pakistani spokesman in Rawalpindi, the Pakistani capital, said 40 Indian air force jet fighters were engaged in a dogfight by Pakistani jets which scrambled to meet them after the Indians invaded Pakistani air space.

The Pakistani spokesman said the Indian Gnat and Hunter jets broke off the fight "after a short, sharp engagement." He reported all Pakistani aircraft returned safely and no known losses inflicted on the Indian planes.

Indian spokesmen said they had no details of the air attack on the Pakistani tanks or how the battle was going.

It appeared from the battle report that neither side was paying any attention to a cease-fire appeal by U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

The aerial encounter came amid reports India would reject the appeal.

The attack on the talks occurred in the same area where India reported Friday it had shot down two U.S.-built jets of the Pakistani air force. New Delhi promptly protested to Washington against Pakistan's use of the weapons, sent to Pakistan under a U.S. military aid program.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was reported today to have found Thant's cease-fire appeal unacceptable.

Widely circulated reports in New Delhi said the Indian government was insisting that any cease-fire would have to label Pakistan an aggressor and provide for Pakistani withdrawal of guerrillas from the Indian-held section of Kashmir—conditions almost certain to be rejected by Pakistan.

President Ayub Khan of Pakistan says India is the aggressor and disavows any control over the guerrillas.

Thant ordered publication today of a recent confidential report by Australian Lt. Gen. Robert H. Nimmo, chief of the U.N. military observer group in India and Pakistan, which checks on compliance with a 1949 cease-fire agreement for the disputed border area.

As described by persons who read it, the document said Nimmo indicated the trouble began last month when armed men, not in uniform, crossed from the Pakistan side into the Indian sector of Kashmir.

Nimmo also reported that India and Pakistan had shelled each other's sectors with artillery, and that both sides still occupied areas seized in each other's zones.

Nimmo's report was prepared before Pakistani regulars crossed the cease-fire line Wednesday.

According to Nimmo, on Aug. 24 "armed elements" from Pakistan were still occupying Indian outposts seized north of Mandrin in the punch sector of Indian Kashmir.

The report also said Indian army troops had been occupying Pakistan positions in the Cargil area since Aug. 15 and in the Tongdrol — Nausar, Lithwal area since Aug. 24.

Thant recently sent the confidential report to India, Pakistan and Security Council members.

High Production Feeding Methods For Cows Studied

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

In recent Dairy Day activities at the Ohio Agriculture Research and Development Center, Doctors Conrad and Hibbs released the following in relation to the problem of feeding high-producing cows.

In the feeding of potentially high-producing dairy cows during the period of heavy milk production, few considerations are more important than maintaining maximum voluntary feed intake. This report compares two approaches to the problem of maintaining maximum intake of digestible nutrients: (1) high-protein forage with minimum grain and (2) free choice grain with corn silage.

A requisite for maximum consumption of any particular ration is high digestibility. Only average milk production can be maintained even in the best cows if they digest less than 65 (60 per cent TDN content) of the dry matter in a ration. On the other hand, most cows reach their inherent capacity for milk production when they are digesting from 67 to 75 per cent (62 to 70 per cent TDN content) of the dry matter from the feed consumed.

In the first phase of a two-year study, two groups of cows were compared on widely different rations. Each ration was composed of commonly used feed sources considered to be highly digestible.

THE high-protein forage ration was composed of 3 parts of field chopped dehydrated alfalfa hay (19 to 21 per cent total protein), 3 parts corn silage (wet basis), and 1 part corn and cob meal. On the dry basis, these ration constituents were present in a 3:1:1 ratio. Maximum amounts of grain eaten were 10 to 12 lb. daily. Supplements of bonemeal and salt were also fed.

The high protein forage ration was compared with free choice feeding of a high protein (18 per cent total protein) grain concentrate ration in conjunction with corn silage. The concentrate ration consisted of corn and cob meal, soybean oil meal, bone meal, and salt. Maximum amounts of grain concentrate eaten were 36 to 42 lb. daily.

The 305-day milk yields are noteworthy in these experiments. Among cows fed the high-protein chopped alfalfa, the highest producing Holstein yielded 22,777 lb. of milk and 720 lb. of fat. The highest producing Jersey yielded 9,800 lb. of milk and 503 lb. of fat.

Among the cows fed grain concentrate free choice with the corn silage, the highest producing Holstein cow yielded 21,090 lb. of milk and 665 lb. of fat. The highest producing Jersey yielded 11,552 lb. of milk and 639 lb. of fat. The combined average yield of the three Holsteins on these rations was 20,271 lb. Both protein sources were used efficiently.

These results provide evidence for the high nutritive value of immature forages. Moreover, it is suggested that the total protein requirement of cows producing up to 105 lb. of milk daily may be met with alfalfa as the sole source of protein concentrate and a minimum level of grain feeding.

There is no question that feeding of excellent quality forage is a practical means of obtaining high milk production. Similarly, the high productivity obtained with cows fed free-choice grain concentrates and corn silage offers an alternative program when such feeds become economical or managerial choices.

Hate to cook on a hot day? A little planning can keep both the kitchen and the cook a little cooler.

Start "cool" meal preparation with the meat dish which generally takes the longest cooking time. Select meats that don't require much cooking. You needn't rely exclusively on cold cuts, though. Use quick cooking methods, such as broiling, or cook outdoors and keep the heat out of the kitchen.

Make one preparation do for several meals. For example, a large roast or ham can be served hot for one meal. Leftovers can be cut into cubes for salad or sliced for sandwiches for another meal.

Serve your family fewer fried foods during hot weather. The high fat content of these foods is a concentrated source of calories. Oven frying is a better method. It takes less fat and less watching. Other ways to "cool off" meal preparation:

Use meat substitutes for some meals. Fish, eggs, and cheese are good sources of protein and are quick-to-prepare, too.

Prepare quantities of some foods to refrigerate or freeze for later use.

Take advantage of cooler morning and evening hours for food preparation.

Limit baking of pies, cookies, cakes, and hot breads.

If the budget permits, use convenience foods that have much of the cooking done for you.

Meals for hot days should include a variety of foods. Don't rely too heavily on sandwiches. The increased amount of bread may crowd out other important foods. And it increases calories, too.

Feed Grain Program Growers To Get Final Payments Soon

Growers who have participated in the 1965 feed grain program will begin getting final program payments soon, Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today. The payments will cover both diversion and price-support payments.

In total, these payments are estimated at about $1,489,480 for the expected 740 county participants in the 1965 program. They will raise returns from the 1965 feed grain crops substantially.

Farmers participating in diverting acreage under the program are also eligible for loans on their entire 1965 crop of corn, barley and grain sorghum.

The diversion payments are made for reducing the acreage of one or more of the three crops — corn, grain sorghum or barley — by at least 20 per cent of the farm's base acreage and devoting such acreage to an approved conserving use. The payment is based on the normal yield for the farm times the per bushel rate which applies to the grain diverted.

THE PRICE-SUPPORT payments are made on the normal production of the acreage planted to the three grains in 1965; rates for the price-support payments are 20 cents per bushel for corn, 16 cents per bushel for barley and 35 cents per hundred-weight for grain sorghum. This payment is assured no matter what disposition is made of the crop.

Chairman Mowery explained that last spring when farmers signed up to take part in the 1965 feed grain program, they could receive in advance half of the estimated total diversion payment to be earned under the 1965 program. In cases where an advance payment was made, the payment now available represents the balance of the diversion payment due, and all of the price-support payment earned under the program.

Mowery said there should be no delay in prompt receipt of the payment where the diverted-acreage and other program provisions have been met. After the application form is completed and signed, the payment will be made immediately.

Farmers were also reminded by the chairman that, even though program payments are to be made in the near future, the approved conservation practices are expected to be carried out on designated diverted acreage throughout the remainder of the year.

Lucky Seven

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The number "seven" just turns up naturally for veteran real estate man C. Robert Peter.

He's 77 and his birthday is on the seventh day of the seventh month.

On that anniversary recently, he was guest at a dinner, where the guests numbered twice seven. Among them were seven grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Peter, who graduated from high school in 1907, figures it all started a generation back. His father was the seventh child in his family.

Fruit, Vegetable Potential In County Rated Excellent

"Southwestern Ohio and Pickaway County have a greater potential for increasing production of fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as nursery products, than any other section of the state," according to Dr. Freeman S. Howlett, chairman of the Department of Horticulture at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, Wooster.

Growers will have to exercise initiative, imagination and foresight if this potential is to be realized, Dr. Howlett said this week during Grape-Horticulture Day at the Southern Branch of the Center, near Ripley.

Farm Facts . .

PERSONS living on farms in the U. S. make up about 6.8 per cent of the total population. This compares with 7.1 per cent in 1963 and 8.7 per cent in 1960.

DEEP CULTIVATION can be particularly harmful to vegetable crops. Feeder roots are cut or broken off. This can seriously reduce yields, say Ohio State University Extension horticulturists.

PESTICIDES have been used for hundreds of years, but in the last 20 years rapid advances have been made in the discovery of more effective chemical pest killers.

THERE ARE 2,500 different kinds of ticks and mites responsible for serious economic losses in the production and storage of food and fiber. Of these, 700 account for billions of dollars a year in crop and livestock damage.

CERTAIN deadly gases may form while a silo is being filled and remain for up to two weeks, according to Ohio State University Extension safety specialists.

FARMERS can produce better silage and save themselves work at the same time by storing the crop at a higher dry matter content than has been customary in the past, according to Ohio State University Extension specialists.

A STRAWBERRY grower may expect nearly a full quart of berries from each plant used to establish a matted row, if he follows good cultural practices.

"We have the know-how to produce high quality apples, melons, strawberries, grapes, sweet corn, tomatoes and other fresh products that consumers want," Dr. Howlett said. "We have better varieties, good soil and climatic conditions, and improved cultural practices. We can control insects and diseases. And Southwestern Ohio has growing markets for high quality products. Suburban growth in the Cincinnati metropolitan area, for example, is among the most rapid in the country."

"So the human factor is really the decisive one if the industry is to realize its potential, the horticulturist noted."

DR. ROY M. KOTTMAN, director, pointed out the Research Center's interest in helping growers provide food and nursery products which are "second to none."

"Ohio producers have many unique advantages in helping to meet America's expanding food and fiber needs," Dr. Kottman said. Contributing factors are the state's increasing population, good transportation facilities, and nearness to Eastern and Midwest population centers.

First Agronomy-Swine Day Scheduled for September 9

By A. J. BAXTER
Area Extension Agent,
Agronomy

September 9 will be a red letter day for many farmers in Pickaway County. The occasion will be the first Agronomy-Swine Day to be held at the Western Branch of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center near South Charleston.

With swine sales accounting for approximately $4,621,000 in the county last year and much of this income due to the corn produced on local farms, the importance of a special Agronomy-Swine Day becomes apparent. Information to help improve an industry of this size should be of interest not only to farmers, but also to many local agri-business firms.

Tours of Agronomy and Swine Research will be held during the morning and the afternoon, starting at 9:30 a. m. and at 1 p. m. Each tour will take about two hours so those interested in both swine and agronomy will need to be present both morning and afternoon.

Agronomy wagon tours will visit six stops which will include Herbicides for controlling Canadian Thistles, Tillage Practices for Corn, Soybean Varieties, Row Spacing and Fertility Practices for Corn and Soybeans, Fall vs Spring Plowing, and Date of Planting for Corn and Soybeans, and finally, Soil Insect Control.

THE SWINE tour will include paste feeding of hogs, early weaning of pigs, rotational cross-breeding, sow feeding stalls and copper for pigs on pasture.

Educational exhibits in the registration area will include one on maize dwarf mosaic, economics of swine production and one entitled "The Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center Serves All Ohioans."

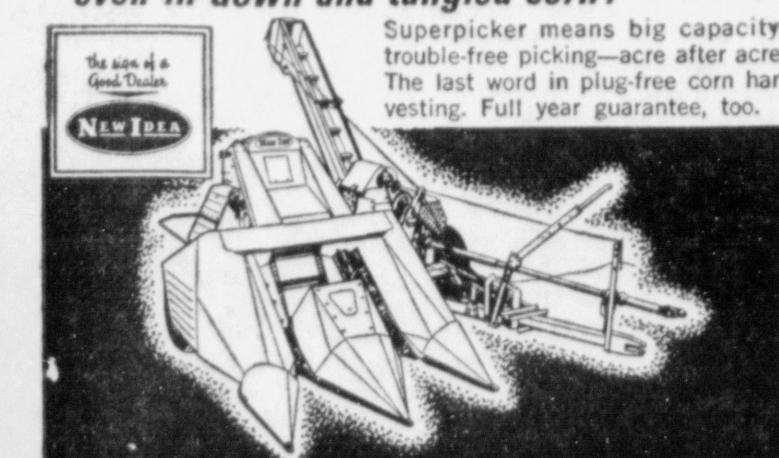

The Western Branch farm is located on State Route 41 about three miles northwest of South Charleston in Clark County. Light refreshments will be served but no lunch is planned. Anyone planning to stay for both tours should bring a sack lunch or basket dinner.

Further details concerning the day's activities or information about the Experiment Station and Extension personnel who will man each of the tour stops can be obtained from the local County Extension Office.

Persons that desire to attend this event with the Pickaway County group should contact the County Extension Office for time of departure, etc.

In tours of research plots, the growers observed cultural practices in producing grapes, apples and peaches. They heard discussions on the potential of these crops, as well as on control of rodent and fruit diseases.

Grape-Horticulture Day was co-sponsored by the Research Center and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Revolution in 3 R's To Continue 10 Years, Then Start All Over

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The revolution in the 3 R's, now putting meat and muscle into everything from first-grade reading to twelfth-grade physics, probably will continue for another 10 years.

Then it will have to begin all over again.

As children are better prepared in grade school, even the already-improved junior high programs will have to be beefed up to keep them interested. Better preparation in junior high, in turn, requires more challenging programs in the high schools.

Mary Jones, entering the first grade this fall, will have 8 or 9 years of science by the time she is in high school. Even today's new and rugged biology, chemistry and physics will be comparatively soft touches and will have to be strengthened.

The same is true in math, where children in the first three grades are being introduced to algebra and geometry. Traditional high school courses in civics and economics will be forced into the academic ashcan by the new elementary school social studies courses.

A growing number of schools are discarding the traditional "Oh, oh, oh," and "Look, look, look," readers and are teaching first graders to read and enjoy Aesop's Fables and other children's classics. Improved reading ability alone will have a tremendous effect on every part of the school curriculum.

The revolution in the three R's isn't all from the first grade up. It works from the top down as well. When a new and tougher course is introduced in high school, it quickly becomes obvious that there must be better preparation for it in the lower grades.

Thus, the committee which developed the new high school physics is now at work on a ninth-grade course in introductory physical science. The idea: Narrow the gap between what a youngster learns in junior high and what he needs to know to be comfortable with advanced high school science.

Educators agree that the real impact of the revolution is still to come.

John Goodlad of the University of California at Los Angeles had this warning in a report:

"It is dangerous to assume that curriculum change has swept through all of our 85,000 public elementary schools and 24,000 public secondary schools during this past decade of reform."

"Tens of thousands of schools have scarcely been touched, or not been touched at all, especially in areas of very sparse or very dense population. "Tens of thousands of teachers have had little opportunity to realize what advances in knowledge and changes in subject fields mean for them. Tens of thousands hold emergency certificates or teach subjects other than those in which they were prepared."

"In elementary schools, teachers with backgrounds in science and mathematics constitute a species that is about as rare as the American buffalo."

Paul Klinge, assistant to the president of Indiana University, said in an interview:

"The curriculum reforms haven't really hit the colleges yet, but they will within five years."

"Last fall, five per cent of the freshmen at Indiana university had had the new physics in high school, about seven per cent had studied the new chemistry, and about ten per cent the new biology."

"When the impact does hit the colleges, it's really going to shake up things on the campus. And in 10-15 years, new programs now being put in the elementary schools and junior highs are going to change things so much that we'll have to have an entirely new reform movement."

Basic to the revolution in the three R's is the realization by educators that children can learn more, and learn it earlier than had ever been imagined. More than that — they enjoy it.

Dr. Jerrold R. Acharyas, professor of physics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a prime mover in curriculum reform, puts it this way:

"It's wrong to say that we are pushing things from the grade school down to the elementary grades. That's not the object at all — to cram more and more things into more and more heads."

"We're trying to get kids thinking in sophisticated areas, trying to find ways to make kids use their heads. And it turns out kids like to use their heads."

"One of the things we really believe is that kids are brighter than you think. There are all sorts of ways you can get kids trapped into intellectualism."

Dr. Jerome Bruner, professor of psychology at Harvard, created quite a stir in 1960 when he wrote, "Any subject matter can be taught to anybody at any age in some form that is honest."

Much of today's curriculum reform is based on that hypothesis.

The success of any such reform rests ultimately with the classroom teacher. Unfortunately, most teachers were not prepared yesterday for the new tasks they face today.

The situation is not so bad at the high school level, where many teachers have college majors in the subject they are teaching. Even so, the most experienced high school teachers often are those farthest removed from the latest developments in their fields.

For this reason, curriculum innovators concern themselves almost as much with the teacher as with the child.

As the revolution in the three R's continues to spread, one question is constantly asked: Won't this lead to a national curriculum, with every student in every part of the country studying the same course in the same grade?

James R. Killian Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, says the revolution actually does the opposite — it encourages diversity and non-conformity in the educational system.

"Although there were many textbooks on mathematics 20 years ago," he told a congressional committee, "each text, by and large, was teaching the same math with little dissimilarity."

"During the past five years, new and bolder and diverse ways of teaching mathematics have been developed (and) our schools have wider and wiser choice."

CLEANEST CAT IN TOWN—Scamper vanished at the J. F. Sargent home in Arcadia, Calif., and wasn't found until a wash, three rinses and most of a spin-dry later, when the Sargents learned all the ruckus being made by their front-loading washer wasn't mechanical. Jeff Sargent, 10, freed the disgruntled pet.

Hungry Haitians Await Ripening of Corn Crop

LES CAYES, Haiti (AP) — The first corn crop in a year is ripening on the plain around Les Cayes but hundreds of peasant families, caught in one of Haiti's worst droughts, still go two or three days at a stretch without food.

Last summer Hurricane Cleo ripped through this port city and shot north across Haiti's southern peninsula. More than 100 were killed and many buildings damaged. The storm knocked down thousands of coconut palms and banana trees.

Before the Haitian peasant could replant and harvest on his tiny plot, drought descended on the Caribbean. It lasted in southern Haiti until early last month.

As the weeks passed, peasants drifted into Les Cayes looking for food. Some camped in a field behind Sacred Heart Catholic church; others on the sidewalks near the central market plaza. For a while this spring, one or two a week were found dead every morning.

The army collected the hungry peasants in trucks last month and sent them back to the countryside. Those who returned to town were shipped to Ile a Vache, an island a few miles offshore.

Drought has tragic effects on Haiti's three to four million peasants. With average yearly incomes of $80, many live outside Haiti's money economy. If their crops fail on their one- and two-acre plots, they are without food, except for the mangoes which flourish in the country.

Money is particularly short in Les Cayes. The sugar mill on the edge of town owes $500,000 in wages and in payments to peasants who sold cane to the mill during the recent harvest.

The U.S. government offered to make available $2 million worth of surplus food, to be distributed by Church World Service and CARE. The two agencies asked President Francois Duvalier's government to pay for transporting the food in Haiti, and were refused. The transportation bill would have been between $10,000 and $20,000.

The Easy Way

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Before Ann Bristow left for Girl Scout camp, her mother instructed the 10-year-old girl to label her clothes.

Departure day arrived and Ann still hadn't carried out orders.

"I called the other girls," she explained to her mother, "and found out they're marking their clothes. So I figured I wouldn't have to mark mine because the clothes with no names in them are bound to be mine."

CHINATOWN POSTERS URGE IMMUNIZATION—The 93-year-old patriarch of Los Angeles' Chinatown, Fong Yun (center), explains a Chinese poster, held by Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, Los Angeles County health officer, to Jimmy Ng, 5. The poster, one of 100 being put up throughout Chinatown, explains the danger to children under five from polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough, and urges that they be immunized. Fong told Jimmy, "This maybe not make you live as long as me, but it sure help."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Sept. 4, the 247th day of 1965. There are 118 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1886, Apache Indians under Chief Geronimo surrendered to Gen. Nelson Miles at Skeleton Canyon, Ariz. The surrender ended the last important Indian disturbance in the West.

On this date In 1813, Andrew Jackson and Thomas H. Benton were injured in a brawl in the streets of Nashville, Tenn.

In 1870, Empress Eugenie hid from a Paris mob in the home of an American dentist, Thomas Evans. Disguised in Mrs. Evans' clothes, the empress escaped to England.

In 1917, the American Expeditionary Force suffered its first casualty in France.

In 1953, Maj. Gen. William Dean was released after more than 37 months in North Korean prisons.

Also in 1953, Florence Chadwick of California set a new speed record in swimming the English Channel from England to France.

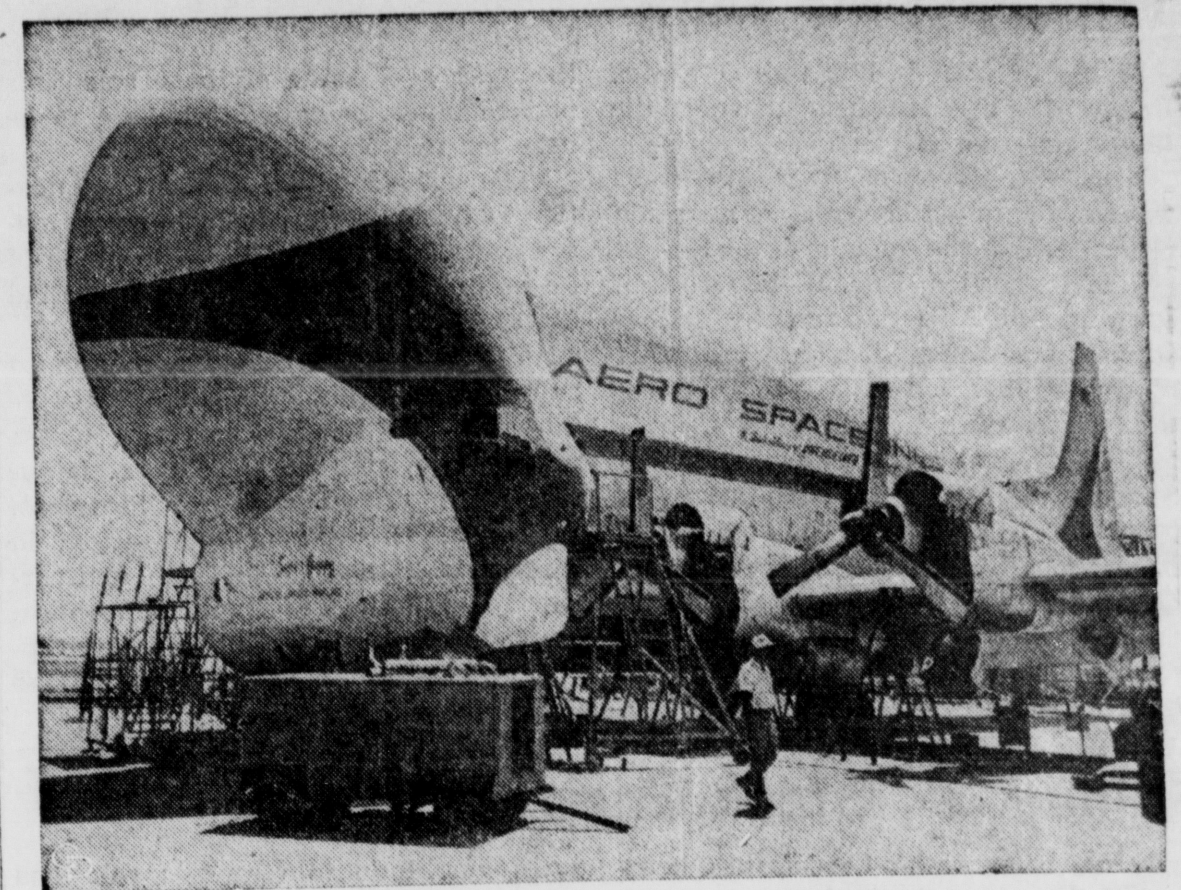

Ten years ago—A Yugoslav economic delegation ended a conference in Moscow at which the Soviet Union promised important economic aid.

Five years ago — Hurricane Donna, one of the most destructive in U.S. Weather Bureau records, was spotted in the Caribbean.

One year ago—The South Vietnamese premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, promised a return to civilian rule within two months.

GOODBYE, LURCH—Charles Sailor, 18, Chicago, gives his pet lion cub, Lurch, a last tidbit before leaving for the Army. He gave cub, which likes peanut butter and jelly, to Lincoln Park Zoo.

IT LOOKS LIKE MAYBE AN ELEPHANT turning its head, but actually it's the world's largest airplane, the "Super Guppy," about ready for its initial flight Aug. 31 at Van Nuys, Calif. The cargo section has an interior diameter of 25 feet to haul Saturn rocket stages. The "head turning" is the revolutionary swing-away nose and cockpit section. It was built by OnMark Aviation for Aero Spacelines.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television's big switch to color this season brings with it certain problems. For instance: How to photograph a doctor show.

"Dr. Kildare" is debuting Sept. 13 in color, and MGM and NBC are wary about how the more vivid aspects of the hospital series will appear on the home screen.

A scene involving the victim of burns was shot over because the makeup appeared just a bit too realistic in the rushes. "Ben Casey," which is struggling along in its fifth season with black-and-white, has no such problems.

Color is not the only thing new about "Dr. Kildare." After four successful years, the hour series has been split into half-hours for presentation on Monday and Tuesday nights.

"I'm really curious to learn how the show will be received," said the young doc, Richard Chamberlain. "I cannot imagine what is going to happen. There is no precedent, no way to predict."

Who Pays the Bill?

Think no one in the United States Congress is concerned about where the taxpayers' money goes?

When the House of Representatives was asked to authorize a celebration of the birth of the founder of the Smithsonian Institution, Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa got to his feet to make an observation that should delight the heart of any taxpayer or anyone who has entertained hordes of visiting firemen:

"... I find there are to be some 700 scholars, scientists, representatives of universities, and so on and so forth, from around the world who will come here for this event. This will be a great day in the history of this country," he said, "if we do not get stuck with the transportation to the United States and the upkeep of some of these scientists and scholars, so-called, who are to be here for this occasion.

"The reason why I asked the question is because we are in business every day paying the bills for a bunch of foreigners to visit the United States..."

Assured that the U.S. was paying no expenses to the visiting dignitaries — that will be the day — Rep. Gross joined in passing the resolution. It authorizes the President to proclaim Sept. 17 and 18 as days of celebrating, in Washington, D. C., the 200th anniversary of the birth of James Smithson, the Englishman who willed all his property to the United States to found the Smithsonian Institution.

Continuing Greek Crisis

Greece's unresolved crisis has been called its worst since the communist civil war of 1947-49. What happens there has significance for much of the world, including the United States.

King Constantine fired Premier Papandreou in a quarrel over control of the military. The king felt the premier was swinging too far to the left. Papandreou charges the king, instead of merely reigning, is trying to usurp the parliamentary right to govern.

There is always the danger that the communists will try to capitalize on chaos in the country. There is also the question of what a government breakdown would do to Greece's relations with foreign nations.

The U. S. has invested more than $3 billion in postwar aid in Greece. A stable Greek government represents one of the cornerstones of western Europe's security. Greece is also a key member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The U. S. currently has its hands full in other parts of the globe. But if Greece cannot settle its dispute, if the crisis threatens the stability of that part of Europe, the U. S. may find itself again forced into a peacemaking role.

Suburbia Clamps on Shackles

By Hal Boyle

By GEORGE CORNELL
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — It used to be that our life was our own. Not any more.

It used to be that we governed our own values, associates and schedules, that nobody minded if we drove an old car, that we could throw the garbage down the incinerator whenever the pail was full.

But the pressure is on, since we moved to a Long Island suburb after 15 years as Manhattan apartment dwellers. Suburbia has clamped on its shackles.

It used to be that status symbols didn't count, that variety surrounded us, in people, restaurants, shops, movies, that we could step across the street to the store whenever we needed a bottle of milk or anything else. Now Main Street is a mile away — and variety is farther.

It used to be that we chose a church parish where we were needed rather than where we were situated, that I could leave for work or start for home to suit my own shift, that I got to see my kids before bedtime.

Ah, it used to be. But we have stepped into the commuter's bog. I'm vassal to the 8:06 by morning, to another hour-plus trip at night, and to undreamt-of risks to the pocket-book.

"Daddy, when are we going to get a boat?"

Port Washington, Long Island, may be beautiful and restful, with its tree-lined streets, clipped lawns, beaches and bird songs, but I really haven't seen it yet by full day — and the birds are at roost before I get home.

Existence is ruled by timetables, system and community concern.

The anonymity of numbers is gone here. The disinterested metropolis, like the western Oklahoma farm where I grew up, lets you be. The small town or suburb expects you to match, to fit the pattern.

There's no nearby self-service laundry; we'll need to buy a machine. Our boy broke the steel stopper in the bathtub, and we've got no landlord to call to get it fixed.

The mortgage payments are due the 15th of each month, along with interest and taxes, plus the utility bills which used to be covered in the rent; the grass to cut, a new family doctor to find, the door latch to adjust; and, always a train to catch.

"There's a wonderful country club," a helpful woman tells us. Membership only $300 a year. Or was it $350. Beach rights $90. At a certain dizzying point, the figures blur. "Your daughter might like to take horseback riding."

For about a year, there's been a hubcap missing from our 1953 sedan, and nobody cared. But this week I hunted up a replacement. Maybe, too, I can scrub some of the rust off the bumper.

After all, out here you get a sharper perspective on the important things. The family loves it.

EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

The stiff aching joints that plague people with arthritis are being relieved of pain by a new and welcome drug.

Early studies performed at the University of Colorado by Dr. Charles J. Smyth show that "the beneficial effects are quite definite." About 250 cases of rheumatoid arthritis were treated with the experimental drug Indomethacin.

Its effect on the painful joints was studied in a series of carefully planned experiments. Dr. Smyth and his colleagues accurately measured the swelling of the hands and feet before and after the drug was used. Jewelers' rings were used to measure changes in the swelling of the joints.

Other patients with rheumatoid arthritis were treated with a variety of other drugs including cortisone to find the most effective one. In this study, many of the cases were benefited most by Indomethacin.

This drug, as with all new drugs, is being carefully observed for any possible toxic effects on patients. Safety is the most important factor in all scientific research.

The drug is being critically evaluated even though the present feeling is that it is a promising one for victims of arthritis.

Q. What are the most common forms of arthritis? How are they different?
A. Rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis are the most common forms. They are both included in the general classification of "rheumatism."

Rheumatoid arthritis is a disease that occurs chiefly in young adults before the age of 40 years. In many instances attacks of pain and swelling of the joints come and go, apparently without reason. Sometimes an attack is set off by an acute infection or even by severe emotional stress.

Osteoarthritis is a disease that occurs most in middle-aged and elderly people. Changes occur in many of the joints of the body and limit them in their complete comfortable movement.

Q. Is gout a form of arthritis?

A. Gout is considered a highly specialized form of arthritis. Gout is commonly considered a disease that involves only one joint, the big toe. Actually, it involves many parts of the body.

The successful response to diet and drugs is dramatic in gouty type of arthritis.

Q. Is physical exercise beneficial to arthritis patients?

A. Physical therapy, active and passive exercise are most comforting in most forms of arthritis.

All physical activity must be custom designed by a physician for each individual in order to obtain its maximum benefit.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "If the government simplifies income taxes one more time they'll get so complicated no one will be able to make out a return."

The speaker was Richard Bloch, one of two brothers whose firm this year filled out 1.5 million federal income tax returns for individuals.

"Every time the government makes a change, it helps our business," said Bloch. "Income tax forms should be geared to the understanding of the average high school graduate. Instead they are terrifying things."

Bloch, 39, and his brother, Henry, 43, are the H&R of H&R Bloch, Inc., a nationwide tax service. In the first 4½ months of the year they have 11,000 employees in more than 1,000 offices working on returns. The Bloch brothers started their business in Kansas City in 1955 after finding demand for tax preparation in their bookkeeping business. By 1958 they had 26 offices in six states, by 1964 more than 500 in 42 states. Gross volume this year is expected to be more than $11 million, compared with less than $2 million as recently as 1963.

"We try to make a pleasure out of having returns filled out," said Richard. "To us, you are never wrong. It's the government regulations that keep you from taking that deduction or that dependent."

The Bloch service costs from $5 to $7.50 per return for more than 50 per cent of their customers. The firm does no business returns. State returns are included in the cost of federal returns.

The Blochs say they have learned a lot about human nature in their business.

"Those who try too hard to save money imagine many things," said Richard. "For instance they'll try to pad their medicine expenses by $2 and forget to include transportation to the doctor that might total $15. They'll jack up their sales tax and forget to deduct personal property tax. Or they'll make a $2.50 deduction for a 25-cent contribution and forget $100 worth of clothing donated to their church."

Sometimes, said Henry, even professional preparers can't convince people to deduct their church contributions.

"They figure the money belongs to the Lord and that they — not the Lord — should pay. They don't stop to think that if they get a refund they can give more."

The U. N. opened a conference on world population in Belgrade. You only have to read the news to realize people are getting in each other's way.

The population explosion is one of the most significant developments of our time. But it's the complaints about the neighbors that make the headlines.

LBJ says the search for a balance between the world's resources and its population is "second only to the search for peace." That's a different explosion.

The U. N. opened a conference on world population in Belgrade. You only have to read the news to realize people are getting in each other's way.

The population explosion is one of the most significant developments of our time. But it's the complaints about the neighbors that make the headlines.

LBJ says the search for a balance between the world's resources and its population is "second only to the search for peace." That's a different explosion.

Fans Get Look at CHS Band, Footballers during Preview

FIRST STRING — Here is a look at the Band Mothers dressed for a night out as they discuss strategy for the next play. The "Kant Hardleys" won 6-0 when Fumbles Willoughby sprinted 50 yards for the only score of the game. The conversion attempt went awry when an opponent smashed through the line to reach the ball before the kicker did.

An inside look at things to come ably describes last night's annual Band and Football Preview sponsored by the Circleville High School Band Mothers.

A grandstand packed with fans greeted the annual show at the CHS football field. The program itself gave promise of an interesting and exciting season, both band and football-wise.

Football fundamentals, stirring music and precision movement and plenty of comedy were combined into the evening program. It served as a forerunner to next Friday's gridiron opener here with Grove City.

Festivities opened with the Davis Demons Color Guard handling flag-raising chores while the CHS Band played the National Anthem.

ANNOUNCER Boyd Stout introduced head football coach Paul Starr who presented the coaches, players and cheerleaders.

The gridders went through a football clinic and scrimmage, explained by Starr.

The Circleville High School Band, under the direction of Truman Eberly, marched onto the field led by Lynn Rickey, drum majorette.

The Band's show for the evening was a presentation of "Gridiron Geometry," a precision magic routine. Feature routines were presented by Miss Rickey and majorettes, Linda Bowers, Teresa Jones, Linda Conrad and Linda Rymer.

Football "as you have never see it before" was presented by the Band Mothers. The gridiron comedy featured the "Has Had Its" versus the "Kant Hardleys."

THE TWO teams, decked out in pads and near complete football gear, were engaged in a furious battle until "Fumbles" Willoughby of the "Kant Hardleys" somehow sneaked through the line and sprinted 50 yards for the only touchdown of the game. Moral support was added by dancing girls and a mascot that came close to resembling a donkey.

A dandy climax to the festivities was provided by the Davis Demons, Circleville's renowned drum corps noted for its skill and precision. The unit is under the direction of John Davis, a past outstanding CHS and University of Michigan Band drummer.

Highlights of the Demons program included the first performance of a new concert number and a drum salute to the Circleville Band and director Truman Eberly.

The annual Preview is the sole money-raising effort sponsored by the Band Mothers. Funds derived are used to purchase band uniforms.

Band member Mark Downing finished as top ticket seller for the Preview. Other top salesmen were Eric Downing, Sue Barnhill, Valerie Valentine, Jackie Ullman and Marsha Brehmer.

Betsy Is Aimed At Carolinas

Storm Churns Up Vast Ocean Area

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy raged on toward the coasts of the Carolinas today and chased small craft into port over a 500-mile eastern seaboard stretch from Cape Kennedy to Cape Hatteras.

In a bulletin at 8 a.m. (EST), the Miami Weather Bureau said it was preparing to post a hurricane watch along portions of the North and South Carolina coasts. A "watch" is an alert preliminary to actual hurricane warnings.

A hurricane hunter pilot who rode a bucking plane through the storm most of the night reported that Betsy's highest winds of 125 miles an hour were whipping around a well-defined eye 35 miles in diameter.

The Bahamas Islands escaped damage as the hurricane whirled up the Atlantic Ocean east of the chain. Winds peaked at 35 miles an hour on Abaco, one of the larger islands.

The storm churned up 120,000 square miles of the Atlantic. Tides were expected to rise during the day from Cape Kennedy northward as Betsy moved toward the northwest at eight miles an hour.

Forecasters warned that the tightly organized storm, with peak winds of 125 miles an hour, posed a threat to the coastline south of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

"It's going to get rough up there over the weekend," said forecaster Raymond Kraft.

"We still won't know 'till Sunday whether it will go ashore," he said, "but we don't want a lot of people out in small boats or swimming around in the ocean even if it doesn't."

Heavy seas, pushed by Betsy's 400-mile-wide sweep of gales, are running 6 feet or better 75 miles off the Georgia coast, Kraft said.

Pounding surf will begin battering beaches Sunday, he said, and will get rougher as Betsy approaches.

Bogus Bills Found In Wilmington Area

Top-Ranked Woman in Government Knows Exactly Where She's Going

WASHINGTON (AP) — Through the tricky jungle of federal bureaucracy, a slim woman named Irene Parsons moves with the surefootedness of one who knows where she's going.

At this point she has reached the loftiest personnel post in government ever held by a woman — the $22,000-a-year job of assistant administrator for personnel of the Veterans Administration.

Luckily for the 170,000 employees under her supervision, Irene Parsons couldn't act like a stereotyped boss-lady if her pension depended on it.

She is, rather, one of the new breed of women executives that President Johnson likes to lure into government's higher circles.

They're attractive and feminine without flaunting sex, decisive without being dictatorial.

Information Of Interest To Veterans

(Veterans and their dependents who may have any questions concerning any benefits from the Veterans Administration should bring their questions to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. His office is located in the basement of the County Court House.)

According to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, there are many veterans who do not know for certain whether or not they are eligible for the newly reopened GI insurance.

An easy way to determine if you are eligible, said Shea, is to be able to answer "yes" to three basic questions: 1. — Were you eligible for GI insurance after Oct. 7, 1940 and before Jan. 1, 1957? 2. — Are you now disabled? — That is, do you draw compensation for a disability; have a service-connection for a disability, though you draw no compensation; or have a non-service connected disability so severe it prevents you from buying commercial insurance at the highest rates? 3. — Do you now have either no GI insurance or less than $10,000 worth?

If, said the County Service Officer, your answer is "yes" to these basic questions, you may be able to purchase the new GI insurance any time up to May 2, 1966.

For further information contact the Service Officer in his office in basement of the County Court House.

Canada Scores Gain In 'Brain Drain' Race

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada has scored a net gain in the postwar "brain drain," a study for the Economic Council of Canada shows.

In 1950-63 Canada received professional trained immigrants at the rate of 7,790 a year while 5,475 persons in the same categories left.

intelligent without showing off and instinctively considerate of others without thinking of it as an instrument of policy. Their secretaries like working for them. So do their male colleagues.

A VA executive who Miss Parsons used to work for and who now reports to her says, "I don't think of it as having a woman in the job. I think of it as Irene Parsons, and that's delightful."

Brown-haired, brown-eyed Miss Parsons herself gives her gamine grin. "I haven't run into any unfavorable reaction," she says. "Of course, I've worked with a lot of these men during the years... I believe they will cooperate with me fully."

"I've been lucky in being associated with some able men who didn't discriminate, but I've certainly seen evidence of discrimination against women in government and studies have shown it existed."

"It's improving now, as more women are being brought in and they demonstrate they can do a job well. Lots of men in high position have never worked before with women, or with minority groups either."

Equal job opportunities is a major plank in Miss Parsons' platform. Because of her efforts as personnel director for two VA departments, she was cited by Ebony magazine in an article that called the Veterans Administration "the most integrated agency" in government.

"I've always said that anyone who discriminates against the Negro will discriminate against women," says the North Carolina-born and educated executive. "If they do it toward one, they'll do it toward any group."

She views her new job as one of seeing "that we have good staffing and the best talent we can get and that employees are well treated so they can give the best possible service to the veterans. After all, the VA was not set up to serve the personnel but the personnel set up to serve veterans."

Miss Parsons had been sizing up people for jobs for more years than you'd guess, looking at her. Her face is youthful, her figure supple, but she insists her only exercise has been walking up to her old third-floor office in the morning. "Now that I've been elevated to the 11th floor, I'll have to think of something else to keep fit," she says.

After graduating from the University of North Carolina in 1941 she taught school a year, worked for the Civil Service Commission, became a lieutenant in the Coast Guard doing personnel work in World War II and joined the Veterans Administration in 1946 as a $3,000-a-year-personnel assistant.

Now she ranks first among the 50,000 women in the VA, the third largest government agency. (Only Defense and Post Office are larger).

One of her immediate tasks in the new job is taking a look at personnel policies throughout the agency, which operates 169 hospitals and 66 regional offices.

"Just because we've had a policy for years doesn't necessarily mean it's the best," she says.

"It was the President himself who told a seminar for students that if they accepted everything in government it wasn't the place for them."

She is keenly aware of the customary criticisms of bureaucracy.

"People often feel government employees are conformists, going along with things as they are. But a lot of employees are trying to stand for the right, and at all times. It's the only course, I think, and it doesn't have an adverse effect on your career."

"I don't have any regrets as far as the work I've chosen or the places I've worked," says the unmarried Miss Parsons.

"I go to some parties and receptions, and go out with friends to dinner. But I devote a lot of time to work."

This last spring she also spent her evenings getting a master's degree in public administration at George Washington University.

"It was the President himself who told a seminar for students that if they accepted everything in government it wasn't the place for them."

She is keenly aware of the customary criticisms of bureaucracy.

"People often feel government employees are conformists, going along with things as they are. But a lot of employees are trying to stand for the right, and at all times. It's the only course, I think, and it doesn't have an adverse effect on your career."

"I don't have any regrets as far as the work I've chosen or the places I've worked," says the unmarried Miss Parsons.

"I go to some parties and receptions, and go out with friends to dinner. But I devote a lot of time to work."

This last spring she also spent her evenings getting a master's degree in public administration at George Washington University.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT EUGENE CLARK

Karen Rase, Robert Clark Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Karen Sue Rase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Rase, Route 4, and Mr. Robert Eugene Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark, 843 Atwater Ave., exchanged wedding vows 2:30 p. m. Aug. 1 in Trinity Lutheran Church.

Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and carnations.

Mrs. Tom Downing, organist, presented a program of appropriate nuptial selections. Miss Sherrie Hull was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza fashioned with a molded bodice, scalloped oval neckline and brief sleeves. Alencon lace motifs re-embroidered with tiny pearls trimmed the neckline, midriff and was repeated throughout the bouffant skirt which extended into a chapel train. A pillow of seed pearls held her veil of silk illusion and she carried white carnations and white pompon chrysanthemums. Her double strand of pearls and pearl earrings were a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Donna Clark was matron of honor and Miss Nancy L. Rase, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical floor length dresses of pastel blue dotted swiss over organdy each designed with a sleeveless fitted bodice and natural neckline. They carried white pompon chrysanthemums and pink carnations. Miss Cinda Peters, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a floor length dress of pastel pink dotted swiss and a crown of white carnations. She carried a basket of white pompon chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

Mr. Bruce E. Clark served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Fred Stumbo Jr., and Mr. William Walker. Mr. Bradley Rase, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a beige shantung sheath dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue printed jersey dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in the parish house of the church immediately following the ceremony. White carnations and greenery decorated the four tiered cake of pink and blue rosebuds. Hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Starkey, Williamsport, Miss Melody Shea and Miss Barbara Rumer.

For a wedding trip and tour of the southern states the bride wore a pink and white sheath dress with a ribbon corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The new Mrs. Clark is a 1960 graduate of Circleville High School and a 1961 graduate of Columbus Business University.

She is employed as a secretary at North American Aviation, Inc., Columbus.

Mr. Clark, a 1960 graduate of Williamsport High School, served four years in the U. S. Navy and is presently engaged in farming.

The couple resides at 233 1/2 N. Court St.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Knotty Problem!

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a very fine 36-year-old bachelor. He has high moral standards and no bad habits. He is nice-looking, honest, unselfish, good-natured, hard-working, and neat and clean. His only fault is that he never wears a necktie. He has nice clothes, but he always wears a sport shirt and leaves the top button unbuttoned. I have been wanting to ask him to wear a tie, but I can't bring myself to do it. I am 34 and have other gentlemen friends, but none with so many fine qualities. He has hinted about marriage, and he would make an ideal husband. I'd like to invite him to our church supper, but I'm afraid he would show up without a tie and I'd be embarrassed. What would YOU do?

DEAR RURAL: I'd invite

this nice-looking, honest, unselfish, good-natured, hard-working, neat and clean gentleman to the church supper. Then I'd buy him a necktie and ask him please to wear it. Once you get the tie around his neck, go to work on getting him to tie the knot. And I don't mean the tie, either.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your advice on something that has me betwixt and between. I am going with a wonderful girl and I want to marry her. But she has a few relatives who are a little off.

SHERMAN OAKS

DEAR OAKS: Who hasn't? Go ahead and marry her.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has always taught me that it isn't "nice" for a girl to call boys on the phone, or to go to a boy's house unless you have been invited to a planned party there. Well, I have a girl friend who does just that. I know because I have been with her when she's called boys and gone to their

Is my mother living in the past? Would you call that running after a boy? My mother doesn't know I've done this. But I only do this when I'm with this girl friend because she does not have nerve enough to do it alone. If it's wrong, why is it wrong, Abby? Most girls would never see a boy outside of school if they didn't.

MAKE UP A NAME

DEAR MAKE: No. Honey, your mother is not "living in the past." It's "wrong" to call boys and to go to their homes, uninvited, because it is too forward. Some boys might enjoy having girls run after them, but when a boy wants a girl to be "his girl," he chooses one who waits to be called and called on.

DEAR ABBY: So often in your column a husband complains that his wife is "cold." I say, if that is true, it's her husband's fault. It is so easy to warm up a wife. All you have to do is pay her an honest compliment about herself or her cooking once in a while. Sneak up behind her when she's doing her work and kiss the back of her neck. Put your arm around her in public occasionally. A woman wants others to know that her husband feels some affection for her. Just keep telling her you love her.

Champ Browns Warned To Keep Eye on Halos

CLEVELAND (AP)—On the eve of their first 1965 home exhibition, the Cleveland Browns got a word of warning from their coach that history is against their repeating as national football league champions.

"About 30 teams have had the opportunity to try and repeat as NFL champions . . . only six have been able to do it," Blanton Collier told the Cleveland Touchdown and Ad Clubs Friday. His players were on hand to hear the talk.

Collier said he wanted "more than I can tell you" for his squad to join the select group of repeaters and he thinks the 1965 Browns can do it.

"We can win if they can look through their halos and concentrate on the job as they did a year ago," the coach said.

Robby Finds Batting Eye, Socks Homer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson may be hitting again—and that's bad news to everybody in the National League except the Cincinnati Reds.

The veteran outfielder, who for years has been recognized as the man who sets the Reds' pace, socked a three-run homer Friday night to help his team rout Philadelphia, 16-7.

Three runs did not look like much when compared with the final score, but the Reds were trailing by three when Robinson got his 25th homer in the fifth inning. It tied the score, and Cincinnati went on to grab the victory that left them in second place, one game behind the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"That is the man to lead us to the pennant, or we will have a tough scramble getting there," Manager Dick Sisler declared after the game.

"He's hitting the ball real well now, and maybe he will pick up and keep driving in more runs."

Robinson's batting average may not show it yet, but he seems to be getting out of a bad slump. The 30-year-old slugger has hit safely in five of the eight games since the Reds came back home, and the home run was his second in as many days. He also tied the game against Milwaukee with a home run Thursday night, but the raves pulled ahead again.

Trotter Wins 3rd Race in 2 Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sonic Song, owned by Dave McClain of Lima, Ohio, won his third race in two days when the 6-year-old son of Victory Song won the $3,000 invitational trot in 2:04 4-5.

After winning two heats of an overnight event at the Ohio State Fair Thursday afternoon, Sonic Song came right back to win the feature event Friday night at Scioto Downs.

Driven by Emmett Ebenhack, Sonic Song won by three-quarters of a length to upset pre-race favorite Lumber Frost and paid $22.40, $7.80 and $4. Lumber Frost paid $3.80 and $3.20. Underpass paid $3.60 to show. The attendance was 4,646. Mutuel handle was $176,620.

Race Time Continues Pacing Supremacy

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Race Time continued his supremacy among the 4-year-old pacers Friday night with a 2-length victory in the $10,550 fourth leg of the Harness Tracks of America Pace at Saratoga Raceway.

Time for the mile was 2:02. Race Time also won the first three legs. He paid $2.60, $2.20 and $2.20 in the finale.

"They must remember how they got there last year—the price they had to pay."

"This squad has the ability if the concentration has not been diluted."

The Browns meet the Green Bay Packers in the second game of tonight's doubleheader—pro football's fourth annual twin bill exhibition. The game's certain to draw around 83,000 fans, including about 4,000 standees.

Kickoff for the first game, between the Detroit Lions and New York Giants, is at 6:30 EDT.

The Browns have won four exhibitions and have one left next Saturday night in Akron against the Pittsburgh Steelers. The regular season opener for Cleveland is Sept. 19 in Washington.

The Browns are favored by only a single point over the Packers, and the Lions are rated to win their first practice game triumph by six points.

Coach Allie Sherman of New York is pleased with the Giants' new quarterback, Earl Morrall, obtained from Detroit on Monday and scheduled for use tonight.

Erich Barnes, who figured in the same three-club trade, probably will see some action for Cleveland, but the former Giant veteran is not expected to start at the strongside safety. Ross Fichtner is the likely starter at this spot.

Winger Clings To Golf Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bo Winger fought off challenges Friday by PGA champion Dave Marr and former PGA champion Bobby Nichols to cling to a one-stroke lead in the $65,000 Oklahoma City Open.

Winger, 42, coolly turned back all charges with a two-under par 70, giving him a 139 total, five under par at the midway mark.

Marr shot a 69 for a 140 total. Nichols, who won the 1964 PGA crown, was in strong contention, just two shots back, when he took an awful eight on the tricky No. 17, a 469-yard par-four hole, and finished at 74 to fall six strokes back.

Viking To Have More Size, Depth And Experience

By STEVE JONES

Teays Valley High School's football team will be better this year, with more size, experience and depth according to Marion Waits, head coach.

The Vikings, however, are the smallest school in the four-team South Suburban League. And from all indications, they will field the smallest team in the loop.

Pleasant View, with virtually every starter back from last year's squad, appears to be the league's powerhouse. Waits noted.

The Viking coach sees Franklin Heights' Falcons in the running spot. Hamilton Twp. could be the team battling for third spot in the league.

TEAYS VALLEY has only a little more than 500 students in the high school. Franklin Heights, largest school in the league, has 1,300 in the upper

Viking QB Sets Pace in 57-17 Romp

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't try to tell Minnesota Coach Norm Van Brocklin there's a better quarterback in professional football than the Vikings' rambling scrambler, Fran Tarkenton.

He's liable to show you the film of Friday night's 57-17 romp against Dallas.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes and piloted a Minnesota attack that gained 210 yards through the air and 19 on the ground. The Vikings' defense pitched in with six interceptions.

St. Louis intercepted four Rudy Bukich passes and whipped Chicago 25-3 in Friday night's other National Football League exhibition game.

Jim Bakken booted three field goals as the Cardinals won their first pre-season game after two losses and a tie. Chicago lost its second in four starts.

New York's new quarterback, Earl Morrall, starts against his former teammates, the Detroit Lions, in the first game of tonight's NFL doubleheader at Cleveland. The defending champion Browns face Western Division contender Green Bay in the second game, with 80,000 fans expected.

Fyffe Returns To Syracuse

Duke Fyffe a Circleville High School graduate, has returned to Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., for fall football practice.

Fyffe is attending Syracuse on a football scholarship.

A linebacker and fullback at CHS, he is expected to see action as a linebacker at Syracuse.

WHO GAVE UP THE FIRST WORLD SERIES HOME RUN?

By BOB SUDYK

CY YOUNG, pitching in the first World Series game as we know it today, gave up the first homer, Oct. 1, 1903. Jimmy Sebring, a 21-year-old Pittsburgh rookie, slugged it to lead his team over Boston, 7-3.

Hargan Fails In Comeback With Tribe

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Hargan was one of the Cleveland Indians' most effective pitchers in spring training, and after they sent him to Portland he sparked for that Pacific Coast League team, compiling a 14-5 record before the Indians brought him up a month ago.

Hargan has shown indications since then that he has the stuff that makes a major league pitcher, but he has had his problems too.

The 21-year-old rookie was bothered by an extreme case of wildness Friday night, and didn't last one inning against the Baltimore Orioles. Hargan walked three men, gave up three hits and let in one run with a wild pitch. The Orioles scored four runs before Gary Bell came in to get the third out.

The Indians, who had scored once in the opening frame, never caught up, and the Orioles won 5-3, getting the fifth run on Curt Blefary's home run off Don McMahon in the seventh. It was Hargan's third defeat against two victories.

In spite of the 10 returning lettermen, Waits does not consider the Vikings a "veteran ball club."

In preseason scrimmages they have been able to move the ball more consistently than in the past. And the defense appears adequate, the Viking coach noted.

The Vikings open their season Friday at Walnut Ridge. The first home game is Sept. 17 when the Circleville Tigers make the short trip northward.

Champ Browns Warned To Keep Eye on Halos

CLEVELAND (AP)—On the eve of their first 1965 home exhibition, the Cleveland Browns got a word of warning from their coach that history is against their repeating as national football league champions.

"About 30 teams have had the opportunity to try and repeat as NFL champions . . . only six have been able to do it," Blanton Collier told the Cleveland Touchdown and Ad Clubs Friday. His players were on hand to hear the talk.

Collier said he wanted "more than I can tell you" for his squad to join the select group of repeaters and he thinks the 1965 Browns can do it.

"We can win if they can look through their halos and concentrate on the job as they did a year ago," the coach said.

Robby Finds Batting Eye, Socks Homer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson may be hitting again — and that's bad news to everybody in the National League except the Cincinnati Reds.

The veteran outfielder, who for years has been recognized as the man who sets the Reds' pace, socked a three-run homer Friday night to help his team rout Philadelphia, 16-7.

Three runs may not look like much when compared with the final score, but the Reds were trailing by three when Robinson got his 25th homer in the fifth inning. It tied the score, and Cincinnati went on to grab the victory that left them in second place, one game behind the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"That is the man to lead us to the pennant, or we will have a tough scramble getting there," Manager Dick Sisler declared after the game.

"He's hitting the ball real well now, and maybe he will pick up and keep driving in more runs."

Robinson's batting average may not show it yet, but he seems to be getting out of a bad slump. The 30-year-old slugger has hit safely in five of the eight games since the Reds came back home, and the home run was his second in as many days. He also tied the game against Milwaukee with a home run Thursday night, but the raves pulled ahead again.

Trotter Wins 3rd Race in 2 Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sonie Song, owned by Dave McClain of Lima, Ohio, won his third race in two days when the 6-year-old son of Victory Song won the $3,000 invitational trot in 2:04.4-5.

After winning two heats of an overnight event at the Ohio State Fair Thursday afternoon, Sonie Song came right back to win the feature event Friday night at Scioto Downs.

Driven by Emmett Ebenhack, Sonie Song won by three-quarters of a length to upset pre-race favorite Lumber Frost and paid $22.40, $7.80 and $4. Lumber Frost paid $3.80 and $3.20. Underpass paid $3.60 to show.

The attendance was 4,646. Mutuel handle was $176,620.

Race Time Continues Pacing Supremacy

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Race Time continued his supremacy among the 4-year-old pacers Friday night with a 2-length victory in the $10,550 fourth leg of the Harness Tracks of America Pace at Saratoga Raceway.

Time for the mile was 2:02. Race Time also won the first three legs. He paid $2.60, $2.20 and $2.20 in the finale.

"They must remember how they got there last year—the price they had to pay.

"This squad has the ability if the concentration has not been diluted."

The Browns meet the Green Bay Packers in the second game of tonight's doubleheader—pro football's fourth annual twin bill exhibition. The game's certain to draw around 83,000 fans, including about 4,000 standees.

Kickoff for the first game, between the Detroit Lions and New York Giants, is at 6:30 EDT.

The Browns have won four exhibitions and have one left next Saturday night in Akron against the Pittsburgh Steelers. The regular season opener for Cleveland is Sept. 19 in Washington.

The Browns are favored by only a single point over the Packers, and the Lions are rated to win their first practice game triumph by six points.

Coach Allie Sherman of New York is pleased with the Giants' new quarterback, Earl Morrall, obtained from Detroit on Monday and scheduled for use tonight.

Erich Barnes, who figured in the same three-club trade, probably will see some action for Cleveland, but the former Giant veteran is not expected to start at the strongside safety. Ross Fichtner is the likely starter at this spot.

Winger Clings To Golf Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bo Winger fought off challenges Friday by PGA champion Dave Marr and former PGA champion Bobby Nichols to cling to a one-stroke lead in the $65,000 Oklahoma City Open.

Winger, 42, coolly turned back all charges with a two-under-par 70, giving him a 139 total, five under par at the midway mark.

Marr shot a 69 for a 140 total. Nichols, who won the 1964 PGA crown, was in strong contention, just two shots back, when he took an awful eight on the tricky No. 17, a 469-yard par-four hole, and finished at 74 to fall six strokes back.

Viking To Have More Size, Depth And Experience

By STEVE JONES

Teays Valley High School's football team will be better this year, with more size, experience and depth according to Marion Waits, head coach.

The Vikings, however, are the smallest school in the four-team South Suburban League. And from all indications, they will field the smallest team in the loop.

Pleasant View, with virtually every starter back from last year's squad, appears to be the league's powerhouse, Waits noted.

The Viking coach sees Franklin Heights' Falcons in the runner-up spot. Hamilton Twp. could be the team battling for third spot in the league.

TEAYS VALLEY has only a little more than 500 students in the high school. Franklin Heights, largest school in the league, has 1,300 in the upper

Viking QB Sets Pace in 57-17 Romp

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't try to tell Minnesota Coach Norm Van Brocklin there's a better quarterback in professional football than the Vikings' rambling scrambler, Fran Tarkenton.

He's liable to show you the film of Friday night's 57-17 romp against Dallas.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes and piloted a Minnesota attack that gained 210 yards through the air and 19 on the ground. The Vikings' defense pitched in with six interceptions.

St. Louis intercepted four Rudy Bukich passes and whipped Chicago 25-3 in Friday night's other National Football League exhibition game.

Jim Bakken booted three field goals as the Cardinals won their first pre-season game after two losses and a tie. Chicago lost its second in four starts.

New York's new quarterback, Earl Morrall, starts against his former teammates, the Detroit Lions, in the first game of tonight's NFL doubleheader at Cleveland. The defending champion Browns face Western Division contender Green Bay in the second game, with 80,000 fans expected.

Fyffe Returns To Syracuse

Duke Fyffe a Circleville High School graduate, has returned to Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., for fall football practice.

Fyffe is attending Syracuse on a football scholarship. A linebacker and fullback at CHS, he is expected to see action as a linebacker at Syracuse.

WHO GAVE UP THE FIRST WORLD SERIES HOME RUN?

By BOB SUDYK

CY YOUNG, pitching in the first World Series game as we know it today, gave up the first homer, Oct. 1, 1903. Jimmy Sebring, a 21-year-old Pittsburgh rookie, slugged it to lead his team over Boston, 7-3.

Hargan Fails In Comeback With Tribe

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Hargan was one of the Cleveland Indians' most effective pitchers in spring training, and after they sent him to Portland he sparked for that Pacific Coast League team, compiling a 14-5 record before the Indians brought him up a month ago.

Hargan has shown indications since then that he has the stuff that makes a major league pitcher, but he has had his problems too.

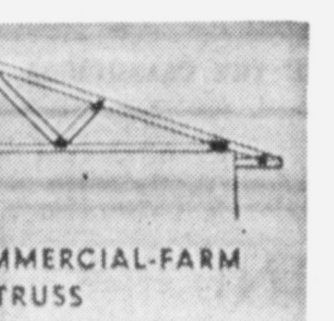

The 21-year-old rookie was bothered by an extreme case of wildness Friday night, and didn't last one inning against the Baltimore Orioles. Hargan walked three men, gave up three hits and let in one run with a wild pitch. The Orioles scored four runs before Gary Bell came in to get the third out.

The Indians, who had scored once in the opening frame, never caught up, and the Orioles won 5-3, getting the fifth run on Curt Blefary's home run off Don McMahon in the seventh. It was Hargan's third defeat against two victories.

In spite of the 10 returning lettermen, Waits does not consider the Vikings a "veteran ball club."

In preseason scrimmages they have been able to move the ball more consistently than in the past. And the defense appears adequate, the Viking coach noted.

The Vikings open their season Friday at Walnut Ridge. The first home game is Sept. 17 when the Circleville Tigers make the short trip northward.

Buffalo, Oakland Picked in AFL

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —For a rookie the worst place to try and grab a berth in the American Football League is with Buffalo's veteran legions. For a reject the best place to try and grab a starting berth is with Oakland's foreign legion.

And as the AFL enters its sixth season, the headlines undoubtedly will focus on the individual exploits of $400,000 quarterback Joe Namath, former Navy All-America Joe Bellino and controversial Cookie Gilchrist, banished by Buffalo to the Denver Broncos.

But it's not unlikely that the Bills and Raiders, who have gone their separate ways in building their teams, will wind up in the championship game despite the lack of a headline-grabber.

Here's the predicted order of finish:

EAST—Buffalo, Boston, New York, Houston.

WEST—Oakland, San Diego, Kansas City, Denver.

The defending champion Bills, who have built through the draft, likely will put 22 veterans on the field. Barring injury, no rookie will be able to crack the starting lineup.

The main question mark is whether Billy Joe, acquired from Denver in exchange for Gilchrist, can take up the slack and provide the necessary complement for the aerial strikes of the Jack Kemp-Daryle Lamoni-combine.

The Bills' strongest competition in the East figures to come from the Patriots, who again will rely heavily on veteran quarterback Babe Parilli and Gino Cappelletti, the capable tight end, prolific kicker and the league's most valuable player.

Joe Bellino, former Heisman Trophy winner from Navy trying to grab a running back spot after four years in the service, will aid a running attack that long has been inconsistent but the Patriots do not have enough depth and could be hurt by injuries.

The Jets have Namath, but it's questionable whether he, holdover Mike Taliaferro, who has only 2 1/2 games of actual experience, and 1964 Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte can step in and handle the quarterbacking spot with consistency.

When the Minnesota Twins made their last 1965 New York appearance they beat the Yankees twice in three games to gain a 10-4 season edge on the 1964 American League champions.

Tony Oliva and Don Mincher got the job done for the Twins. Oliva singled home two runs in the first inning. Mincher hit a two-run homer in the third and Oliva wrapped up the scoring with another two-run single in the sixth. John Romano and Ken Berry homered for the White Sox.

John Wyatt preserved both A's victories, sealing the champagne party when he took over for Lew Krausse in the eighth inning of the nightcap and put down a mild Angels' threat. Kansas City scored in the second inning on a single by Tom Reynolds and Bill Bryan's double.

Wyatt also completed a six-hit job in the opener, following Dick Joyce and Tom Aker to the mound. Ed Charles gave the A's the runs they needed with a homer and a run-producing bunt single.

Al Downing shackled the Red Sox on five hits — four of the infield variety — while the Yankees tagged Bill Monbouquette with his 17th loss against eight victories. Horace Clarke, just up from Toledo, spiced a seven-run New York explosion in the sixth inning with a pair of singles.

The Orioles capitalized on the wildness of Indians' rookie Steve Hargan, making the most of three walks and a wild pitch for four first inning runs. Brooks Robinson singled in one run, another crossed on the wild pitch and two more came home on Dick Brown's single. Wally Bunker got the victory, his first since July 18.

The Tigers got the job done with a four-homer salvo by Norm Cash, Willie Horton, Bill Freehan and Mickey Stanley. Hank Aguirre was tagged for homers by Ken McMullen and Woodie Held but got the victory for a 13-9 record.

NEW YORK (AP) — For a rookie the worst place to try and grab a berth in the American Football League is with Buffalo's veteran legions. For a reject the best place to try and grab a starting berth is with Oakland's foreign legion.

And as the AFL enters its sixth season, the headlines undoubtedly will focus on the individual exploits of $400,000 quarterback Joe Namath, former Navy All-America Joe Bellino and controversial Cookie Gilchrist, banished by Buffalo to the Denver Broncos.

But it's not unlikely that the Bills and Raiders, who have gone their separate ways in building their teams, will wind up in the championship game despite the lack of a headline-grabber.

Here's the predicted order of finish:

EAST—Buffalo, Boston, New York, Houston.

WEST—Oakland, San Diego, Kansas City, Denver.

A's Beat Minnesota To Punch

Champagne Flows In Kansas City's Cellar-Brayton

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Athletics have beaten the Minnesota Twins to the punch.

The Twins took another step toward a champagne celebration Friday night by whipping Chicago 6-4 and increasing their American League lead over the White Sox to 7 1/2 games but the A's got there first when owner Charles Finley uncorked his long-awaited "cellar-brayton."

The occasion was a 4-1, 1-0 doubleheader sweep at Los Angeles that lifted the A's past Boston and out of the American League cellar for the first time since April.

As the players trotted into the dressing room after the game, the champagne began to flow and Finley toasted his players:

"Congratulations, on making this our happiest night of the year."

The New York Yankees knocked Boston to the bottom of the league by walloping the Red Sox 9-0, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 3-0 and Detroit clubbed Washington 10-2.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked Houston 3-0, Cincinnati crushed Philadelphia 16-7, the Chicago Cubs edged San Francisco 5-4, Milwaukee nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 and the New York Mets downed St. Louis 6-3.

Tony Oliva and Don Mincher got the job done for the Twins. Oliva singled home two runs in the first inning. Mincher hit a two-run homer in the third and Oliva wrapped up the scoring with another two-run single in the sixth. John Romano and Ken Berry homered for the White Sox.

John Wyatt preserved both A's victories, sealing the champagne party when he took over for Lew Krausse in the eighth inning of the nightcap and put down a mild Angels' threat. Kansas City scored in the second inning on a single by Tom Reynolds and Bill Bryan's double.

Wyatt also completed a six-hit job in the opener, following Dick Joyce and Tom Aker to the mound. Ed Charles gave the A's the runs they needed with a homer and a run-producing bunt single.

Al Downing shackled the Red Sox on five hits — four of the infield variety — while the Yankees tagged Bill Monbouquette with his 17th loss against eight victories. Horace Clarke, just up from Toledo, spiced a seven-run New York explosion in the sixth inning with a pair of singles.

The Orioles capitalized on the wildness of Indians' rookie Steve Hargan, making the most of three walks and a wild pitch for four first inning runs. Brooks Robinson singled in one run, another crossed on the wild pitch and two more came home on Dick Brown's single. Wally Bunker got the victory, his first since July 18.

The Tigers got the job done with a four-homer salvo by Norm Cash, Willie Horton, Bill Freehan and Mickey Stanley. Hank Aguirre was tagged for homers by Ken McMullen and Woodie Held but got the victory for a 13-9 record.

The 1963 holiday brought a record traffic toll to 557 for a Labor Day period. This contrasted with low mark of 246 for a post World War II Labor Day — in 1946.
The Labor Day weekend death tolls of recent years ran considerably higher than on non-holiday weekend periods of similar length.
During the 72-hour weekend from 6 p.m., Friday, Aug. 20, to midnight Monday Aug. 23, the traffic deaths numbered 451, a survey by The Associated Press showed. The news service check also recorded 11 boating and 45 drowning deaths during last month's test period.

New Vehicle Sales Total 170 in August

Pickaway Countians purchased 170 new motor vehicles during August, according to the Clerk of Courts Title Department.
Mrs. Sara M. Dresbach, clerk, noted that the department cancelled 485 motor vehicle liens during the month and recorded another 592. Titles issued for both new and used vehicles totaled 1,326.
A breakdown of the new vehicles showed that 111 were passenger cars, 11 were station wagons, 19 were trucks, 24 were camping and house trailers, and five were motorcycles and motor scooters.
Chevrolet listed the sale of 37 cars, one station wagon and nine trucks. Ford notched 35 sales — 20 cars, six station wagons and nine trucks.
Pontiac and Plymouth showed 10 sales each on passenger cars. Oldsmobile had nine sales — eight cars and one station wagon.
Other new car totals for the month were: Rambler 6; Buick 7; Volkswagen 5; Mercury 3; Mercedes-Benz 1; Simca 1; Chrysler 1; GMC Truck 1; Dodge 5.

Teen-Drinking Drive Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has called for action to curb "one of Ohio's biggest social problems"—teen-age drinking.
The governor told the state committee on teen-age drinking at a workshop here Friday that the problem can be alleviated through a broader-based youth program. He added the cooperation of parents, schools, local governments and other groups will be necessary to head off "the disastrous results that can be and are being produced."
The governor made the plea a day after he had signed an administration-backed bill designed to bring a $50 million brewery to the capital city.
The committee is composed of Liquor Director Donald Cook, representatives of the Health and Highway Safety Department along with seven teenagers who are members of a youth advisory board.
Members met to discuss an educational program to solve the problem.
Cook noted statistics comparing the first eight months of 1965 with the corresponding period of last year. They showed that sales to minors are up 187 per cent, liquor furnished minors by adults up 120 per cent and the use of false identification cards up a whopping 385 per cent.
Much of the increase was blamed on a lack of manpower for enforcement of liquor laws by Cook. He said there are 60 agents to oversee 25,000 permit premises.
He added that local government funds or rebated funds were being used for purposes other than enforcing liquor laws.
Rhodes told the committee that it "has my backing and complete cooperation" for its "fine efforts." He said that youth programs at the Ohio State Fair are "just one example" to show that by increasing activities for teenagers that the temptation of drinking can be curtailed or eliminated.

Laser Explained To Rotary Club

"Laser — the communications tool of the future" was the topic of the Circleville Rotary Club's guest speaker at their regular meeting Thursday noon.
Kenneth L. Bartter of Marion, public activities manager of General Telephone Co. of Ohio, explained the theory and demonstrated the amazing Laser beam.
Bartter said the word Laser stands for light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation. This is the communications over light rays.
The speaker used a Laser model to play music to the members of Rotary. "So great is the capacity of talking over light rays," the speaker said, "that one single light beam of a Laser can transmit all the telephone conversations, radio and television programs in the United States at one time."
Although still primarily a laboratory tool, Bartter said great strides have been made with Laser with practical applications being used today in medicine, welding and various industrial cutting processes. Future uses will include communications between earth and space travelers and potential military weapons capable of destroying enemy satellites.

Laser Explained To Rotary Club

"Laser — the communications tool of the future" was the topic of the Circleville Rotary Club's guest speaker at their regular meeting Thursday noon.
Kenneth L. Bartter of Marion, public activities manager of General Telephone Co. of Ohio, explained the theory and demonstrated the amazing Laser beam.
Bartter said the word Laser stands for light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation. This is the communications over light rays.
The speaker used a Laser model to play music to the members of Rotary. "So great is the capacity of talking over light rays," the speaker said, "that one single light beam of a Laser can transmit all the telephone conversations, radio and television programs in the United States at one time."
Although still primarily a laboratory tool, Bartter said great strides have been made with Laser with practical applications being used today in medicine, welding and various industrial cutting processes. Future uses will include communications between earth and space travelers and potential military weapons capable of destroying enemy satellites.

SUPER DUPER OPEN LABOR DAY

MONDAY, SEPT. 6TH
9 A.M. 'TIL 2

High Highway

The 1963 holiday brought a record traffic toll to 557 for a Labor Day period. This contrasted with low mark of 246 for a post World War II Labor Day — in 1946.

The Labor Day weekend death tolls of recent years ran considerably higher than on non-holiday weekend periods of similar length.

During the 72-hour weekend from 6 p.m., Friday, Aug. 20, to midnight Monday Aug. 23, the traffic deaths numbered 451, a survey by The Associated Press showed. The news service check also recorded 11 boating and 45 drowning deaths during last month's test period.

New Vehicle Sales Total 170 in August

Pickaway Countians purchased 170 new motor vehicles during August, according to the Clerk of Courts Title Department.

Mrs. Sara M. Dresbach, clerk, noted that the department cancelled 485 motor vehicle liens during the month and recorded another 592. Titles issued for both new and used vehicles totaled 1,326.

A breakdown of the new vehicles showed that 111 were passenger cars, 11 were station wagons, 19 were trucks, 24 were camping and house trailers, and five were motorcycles and motor scooters.

Chevrolet listed the sale of 37 cars, one station wagon and nine trucks. Ford notched 35 sales — 20 cars, six station wagons and nine trucks.

Pontiac and Plymouth showed 10 sales each on passenger cars. Oldsmobile had nine sales — eight cars and one station wagon.

Other new car totals for the month were: Rambler 6; Buick 7; Volkswagen 5; Mercury 3; Mercedes-Benz 1; Simca 1; Chrysler 1; GMC Truck 1; Dodge 5.
